Strike in, strike in--the sparks begin to dull their rustling red; Our hammers ring with sharper din, our work will soon be sped. Our anchor soon must change his bed of fiery rich array, For a hammock at the roaring bows, or an oozy couch of clay; Our anchor soon must change the lay of merry craftsmen here, For the yeo-heave-o, and the heave away, and the sighing seamans cheer; When, weighing slow, at eve they go--far, far from love and home; And sobbing sweethearts, in a row, wail oer the ocean foam. In livid and obdurate gloom he darkens down at last: A shapely one he is, and strong, as eer from cat was...
