Reviews

This ebook will never be effortless to get started on studying but extremely fun to read through. It is actually written in easy phrases and never difficult to understand. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

Excerpt from Documentary History of Education in Upper Canada, Vol. 21: From the Passing of the Constitutional Act of to the Close of the Reverend Doctor Ryerson s Administration of the Education Department in 1876; 1868-1869 The various events recorded in this Volume are of special interest, both educationally and personally. The years in which they occurred were the first of the transition period which marked the political severance of Upper and Lower Canada, and our becoming the self-governing and independent Province of Ontario, under the Confederation Act of 1867. The personal events recorded were largely influenced by the new state of things, and were the significant precursors of events which led to the final retirement of the Reverend Doctor Ryerson from office in 1876. The first of these personal events was Doctor Ryerson s proposal in 1868 to retire in favour of a Cabinet Minister of Public Instruction. The second of these personal events was the unexpected, and somewhat peremptory, proceedings of the new Provincial Treasurer in directing, without notice to, or consultation with, Doctor Ryerson, that the payment of all School Moneys, heretofore made by him, (and for which he was under heavy Bonds with Sureties,) should in future be made by the Provincial Treasurer. Feeling that this Act had not the usual official sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor in all of such cases, Doctor Ryerson appealed against it to the Governor-in-Council, as being contrary to the express provisions of the School Act in the matter. The Attorney General, (J. Sandfield Macdonald) had, however, (without Doctor Ryerson s knowledge,) assumed the act of the Treasurer as that of the Government, and required Doctor Ryerson to...
