Not illustrated. 1918 Excerpt: .sketch entitled: Street Railway Track Layout on New Street, Bethlehem, Pa., from Church Street to Fourth Street. This sketch shows at a glance the relations between the New Street grade-crossing, the turnouts, the New Street bridge and the tracks extending east and west on Fourth Street, east on Third Street past the Bethlehem Steel Works, west on Second Street to the Union Station and west on Church Street to Main Street; also the location of the company s present freight depot at the south end of the New Street bridge. All of the Allentown-Bethlehem loop line cars and all of the cars on the alternating 20-minute service from Allentown to South Bethlehem pass the intersection of Third and New Streets in both directions. The South Bethlehem local cars and the Hellertown-North Bethlehem loop cars also pass this intersection going in both directions. All of the trippers to the Steel Works pass this intersection either in one or in both directions. The special Slate Belt cars also pass this point in both directions and the Easton-South Bethlehem cars pass it when making their loop from Third Street into Fourth Street. Special service and extra cars are sometimes routed to this point as a terminus and switched back to Rittersville or Allentown as the case may be. Moreover, the car dispatcher sometimes holds a car here until he can see how the traffic cat is going to jump and then sends it off to some destination which is...
